1. Introduction

1.1. Introduction to SULUR GK ASTRO APP

This software is provided by Mr. S. Gopalakrishnan - Sulur, the founder of SULUR GK ASTRO. We welcome all customers.

Enter the date, month, year, time, and place of birth in the SOFTWARE and click Submit. The horoscope will appear on the screen, where Panchanga details can be viewed. The Rasi, Navamsa, and planetary transit positions can be viewed accurately in degrees. The Dasha–Bhukti table and the current day's transit can also be viewed.

After clicking the G.K. option button, the Rasi chart and the current transit planetary positions outside the chart can be viewed degree-wise. The 12 house cusps based on PLACIDUS are provided for the natal Rasi chart and the transit planets outside it. According to the SULUR GK SYSTEM principles, a table for Nadi planetary connections and a separate table for planetary connections to the 12 houses (1, 5, 7, 9) are provided. Both can also be viewed on a percentage basis.

Planetary connections before and after an exchange can be viewed in both the Nadi table and the house table. A table is also provided for viewing Dasha, Bhukti, and Antara. A table is provided showing the connections of transit planets with natal planets, as well as a table showing the connections of transit planets with the 12 natal houses.

The SULUR GK principle includes the 1, 5, 7, 9 relationships and planetary aspects. A planet connects degree-wise with planets located in the 1st, 5th, 7th, and 9th signs from the sign and degree in which it is placed.

If a planet is connected through the aspects of Mars or Saturn, that is also considered a planetary connection. All of these can be viewed in the Nadi planetary connection table.

2. Planetary Connections to the 12 Houses

For the 1st house, planets in the 1st, 5th, 7th, and 9th houses connect with the house degree-wise.

If a house is aspected by Saturn or Mars, that is also considered a planetary connection.

The same rule is used for the transit table. Percentage refers to the difference between the degree at which one planet is placed and the degree at which the connecting planet is placed; this is shown in the Percentage Nadi table.

In the house table, Percentage is the difference between the degree of a house cusp and the degree of the planet connecting to it according to the 1, 5, 7, 9 principle. Mars and Saturn aspects are also taken into account.

The SULUR GK principle is based on the traditional method and the work of Mr. R. G. Rao from Bangalore, the father of Brighu Nandi Nadi. I have refined some principles and developed under the name SULUR GK ASTRO.

11. Explanation of House and Nadi Planetary Connections

In the natal horoscope, the 12 house cusps are connected by natal planets according to the 1, 5, 7, 9 principle, and planets also connect through aspects.

The 1, 5, 9 relationships can also be viewed.

This table shows the connections of planets with houses after an exchange.

This table shows the planetary connections to the 12 house cusps. For a particular house, planets in the 1st, 5th, 7th, and 9th houses connect with that house degree-wise. Even if a particular house is connected through the aspects of Mars or Saturn, it is considered a planetary connection.

The results for each house can be interpreted more easily using its Rasi, planet, lordship, and significations based on the planets connected to it.

11.1. Planet

1. In the Nadi table, the nine natal planets are connected according to the 1, 5, 7, 9 principle. Connections produced by the aspects of Mars and Saturn on the natal planets are also provided in this table.

The connections can be viewed in the table based on the 1, 5, 9 and 1, 4, 7, 10 principles.

Astrology based on planetary combinations is called Nadi astrology. Nadi astrology is practiced not only in Tamil Nadu but also in other states and countries. It is a very simple method for making predictions. The joys and difficulties experienced in human life can be interpreted using these planetary combinations.

2. House connections and Nadi planetary connections are considered degree-, minute-, and second-wise.
3. For the 12 houses, the table gives the Percentage based on whether planets are near to or far from the 12 house cusp. Connections caused by planetary aspects are treated similarly.
4. In the natal horoscope, a table is provided to view, on a planetary Percentage basis, whether the planet connecting to the degree occupied by each of the nine planets is near or far.
5. After tapping the Percentage button, Percentage can be viewed in both the 12-house table and the Nadi table.

12. Planetary Combinations

1. Planets located within 1 degree after the degree, minute, and second occupied by a planet are included in the planetary combination.
2. Planets in the 1, 5, 7, and 9 signs are also considered, as are the special aspects of Mars and Saturn. Even if a planet is retrograde, the connection should be considered.
3. In this example horoscope, Jupiter is in combination with the Sun, and Mars is in combination with Venus.
4. If other planets are located in the 1st, 5th, 7th, and 9th signs from the house and degree occupied by a planet, they connect degree-wise. When such a connection occurs, planets that are less than 1° from the occupied degree, minute, and second are shown in this table.
5. When a planetary combination occurs as shown in this table, predictions must be made very carefully.
6. These planetary connections should be interpreted only after determining whether the significations of the connected planet are actually manifested as results in practice.
7. When making predictions, if the planetary significations are present in practice, that planet should be included as a planetary connection.
8. The Sun is at 22.2 degrees and Jupiter is at 21.06 degrees, which is less. When making a prediction, determine through significations whether Jupiter is connected to the Sun.
9. A planet located within 1° after Venus's occupied degree, minute, and second forms a combination with Venus.

In this horoscope, Mars is at 1°, so a Venus–Mars combination occurs. If the qualities of Mars are present in Venus, it should be interpreted as though the qualities of Mars are present.

14. Aspects

1. This is a very important section of the SULUR GK SCHOOL OF ASTROLOGY. The table shows which Nakshatra Padas are aspected by Saturn and Mars in both the natal horoscope and transit.
2. A table is provided for the aspects of Saturn and Mars according to the special Nadi rules.
3. Tables are provided for Saturn's 3rd and 10th aspects and Mars's 4th and 8th aspects, both before and after an exchange.
4. In the example Rasi chart, Saturn is at 2 degrees 32 minutes in Leo. Magha Pada 2. According to the Nadi rule, Saturn's 3rd aspect falls on Chitra Nakshatra Pada 3 in Libra.
5. The area at 2 degrees 32 minutes in Libra is affected by Saturn's aspect.
6. Even if another planet is located in this Nakshatra Pada, or a transit planet passes through this area, you can understand that its planetary significations and house-lord significations are severely affected.
7. The complete explanation is provided in the Nadi astrology book. Aspects must be observed very carefully. A house table is also provided in this section. Its explanation is available on our website.

Similarly, Saturn's 10th aspect and Mars's 4th and 8th aspects should be observed carefully.

15. Transit

1. When the Transit icon is clicked, a new screen opens. It contains a table showing the connections of transit planets with the 12 natal house cusps.

2. A table is also provided showing the connections of transit planets with natal planets according to the Nadi rule. Both tables help you use the day's transit to view current-period results for the horoscope being analyzed.

3. In the Transit section, the date, time, country, state, and place are shown below the Rasi chart. If, in the future, you want to select an auspicious day for a muhurta, purchasing property, marriage, or another auspicious event, select the location in the country and state where the event will take place and press Submit; the Nadi page will open again. After clicking the Transit button, you can see the house connections and planetary connections for the dates, months, and years you entered and determine whether they are favorable or unfavorable.

16. Chandra Nadi Date

1. A table shows when the transit Moon connects with natal planets. From the date you enter, you can view the days on which the Moon makes connections for up to 20 days.

2. After clicking the Date button, a page opens with Select Date and Find. Select a date within the next 20 days. Click Find and wait for 30 seconds. A new table will show, day by day and hour by hour, which planet the transit Moon connects with. This table can be used to determine in advance whether a day is favorable or unfavorable.

17. Transit Rasi Chart

The transit Rasi chart for the day on which we view the horoscope is provided, along with a 12-house planetary connection table and a table showing the nine planetary connections. These are the transit connections for the day. Sometimes, when a natal planetary combination and a transit planetary combination are the same, the relevant significations become more strongly expressed.

This is a very important section, so it is provided on a single screen. If a person has Saturn and the Sun in the natal horoscope, when a Saturn–Sun combination occurs in transit, the transit event during that particular period will express the planetary significations and house-lord significations for the native.

The Percentage table is provided in two formats. Both are the same, so either Percentage or Chart can be used.
